The United Kingdom Modern Slavery Act of 2015 requires certain businesses to provide public disclosures regarding efforts to eradicate slavery and human trafficking from their supply chains and to ensure it is not occurring in its own organisation. The Company expects each employee of the TRUMPF group of companies worldwide to act in accordance with this Code of Conduct and the values of TRUMPF and asks them to be conscious of the responsibility that they bear for the reputation of the Company. This reputation is of immeasurable value to us.

The Company's only supplier is the TRUMPF Group who perform substantial due diligence on their supply chain. The Company relies on the TRUMPF Code of Conduct and due diligence processes to eradicate modern slavery from its supply chain.

We expect all or who have, or seek to have, a business relationship with Trumpf Limited and/or any member of our Group, to familiarise themselves with our anti-slavery policy and to act at all times in a way which is consistent with its values. Zero tolerance is at the core of Trumpf Limited's Anti-Slavery policy.

1. Purpose of this policy

1.1. Modern slavery is a criminal offence under the Modern Slavery Act 2015 (the 'Act'). Modern slavery can occur in various forms, including servitude, forced or compulsory labour and human trafficking, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain. This document sets out the policy of Trumpf Limited with the aim of the prevention of opportunities for modern slavery to occur within its business. This policy's use of the term 'modern slavery' has the meaning given in the Act.

1.2. The company has a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery. It is committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere within our Company or those of its suppliers.

2. Steps for the prevention of modern slavery

2.1. The Company is committed to ensuring there is transparency in its own business and in our approach to tackling modern slavery throughout its business, consistent with its disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. The Company expects the same high standards from all of its contractors, suppliers and other business partners, and the Company is evolving and updating our contracting processes to include specific prohibitions against the used force, compulsory or trafficked labour, or anyone held in slavery or servitude, whether adults or children. The Company expects its suppliers to hold their own suppliers to the same high standards.

2.2. All employees have an obligation to familiarise themselves with the Companies procedures to help in the identification and prevention of modern slavery and to conduct business in a manner such that the opportunity for and incidence of modern slavery is prevented. Adherence to this policy forms part of all employees' obligations under their contract of employment.

2.3. Whilst recognising the Company's statutory obligation to set out the steps it should take to ensure that modern slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in its supply chains, the Company acknowledges that it does not control the conduct of individuals and organisations in its supply chains.

To underpin its compliance with practical steps, the Company intends to implement the following measures:

- i Conduct risk assessments to determine which parts of the business and which of the Company's suppliers are most at risk of modern slavery so that efforts can be focused on those areas;
- ii Engage with the Company's suppliers both to convey to them our Anti-Slavery Policy and to gain an understanding of the measures taken by them to ensure modern slavery is not occurring in their businesses;
- iii Where appropriate, as informed by the Company's risk assessment, seek to introduce further supplier pre-screening (for example as part of our tender process) and self-reporting for our suppliers on safeguarding controls;
- iv Introduce contractual provisions for the Company's suppliers to confirm their adherence to this policy and accept the Company's right to audit their activities and (where practicable) relationships, both routinely and at times of reasonable suspicion.
- v At the end of the financial year the Company will include in the director's report accompanying its annual financial statements a reference to the Company's Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement, which will be presented on the Company's website during the course of 2021.

3. Responsibility for the policy

3.1. Ultimate responsibility for the prevention and the prevention of modern slavery rests with the Company's leadership. The board of directors of the Company has overall responsibility for ensuring this policy and its implementation complies with its legal and ethical obligations.

3.2. Managers and Team Leaders at all levels are responsible for ensuring those reporting to them understand and comply with this policy and are given adequate and regular training on it and the issue of modern slavery.

4. Actions to report modern slavery or human trafficking

Whistleblowing procedure — direct access to senior leadership

The Company's Whistleblowing Policy is intended to provide guidance on how concerns can be communicated to the Company. Concerns about suspected modern slavery associated with the Company or its suppliers may be reported by employees in this manner. The Whistleblowing Procedure applies to employees and may be found in the Staff Handbook and on Bluenet.

In summary, employees should approach either their Line Manager, MD or the Human Resources. The nature of the complaint will determine the Company's next course of action.

5.1. Any employee who breaches this policy will face disciplinary action, which could result in dismissal for gross misconduct.

5.2. We will terminate our relationship with other individuals and organisations working on our behalf if they materially breach this policy.

Safeguards

The company aims to encourage openness and will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this policy, even if the turn out to be mistaken. The Company is committed to ensuring no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of reporting in good faith their suspicion that modern slavery of whatever form is or may be taking place in any part of its business or in any of its supply chains. Detrimental treatment includes dismissal, disciplinary action, threats or other unfavourable treatment connected with raising a concern. The Company will accept and take seriously concerns communicated anonymously. However, retention of anonymity does render investigations and validation more difficult and can make the process less effective. Individuals are therefore encouraged to put their names to allegations.

Any claims or allegations made which are found to be malicious or vexatious will result in disciplinary action being taken against the individual.

Communication and awareness of this policy

The company's zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery must be communicated to all suppliers, contractors and business partners at the outset of the Company's business relationship with them and reinforced as appropriate thereafter. In addition, all senior leadership within the company receive awareness training and must fully comply with the policy wherever they are based globally.
