Improved status tracking.

The order overview lets you keep track of all your orders, regardless of whether they were placed online or offline. The overview shows real-time tracking of your delivery as well as comprehensive order details. This gives you full transparency at all times.

Place your order faster.

You can create a favorites list for products that you order frequently. In just a few clicks you can set up your personal shopping list which can be accessed at any time. Then it just takes one click to add your favorites list to your shopping cart. The Quick Order function also simplifies the purchasing process with an option to enter the material number and required quantity. Another function allows you to upload a prepared CSV list that only contains material numbers and quantities. As soon as the list is uploaded, you can transfer your order list directly to your shopping cart. You can use the order overview to place repeat orders with just one click - even if the quantities are different or you have removed items.

Smooth integration into your merchandise management system.

You can connect your company's merchandise management system to the MyTRUMPF E-Shop via the OCI interface. This means you can enjoy the multiple benefits of the TRUMPF E-Shop in full compliance with your internal approval processes and standards.

Find the correct part easily.

The TRUMPF E-Shop can quickly guide you to the Genuine Part you are looking for in a variety of ways. Precise information on all products, visual aids such as product images, as well as detailed exploded views help you to find the right Genuine Part without fail. The exploded views show you exactly where the part is fitted on the machine. The Service app also enables product identification by scanning with a mobile device. You can use the integrated search functions to identify the exact Genuine Part without needing the material number or machine identification number. The intelligent search function allows you to find the product you are after quickly. If you don't have the material number or product name to hand, you will still be able to find what you are looking for quickly and easily using the well-structured product catalog. The comprehensive search functions include flexible filter options that can be tailored to your machine fleet.

Make the right choice.

Are the Genuine Parts compatible with your machine fleet? To make an accurate selection, you can also display only the products that are compatible with your machines. This is what the customized machine filter is for. Detailed product information such as comprehensive technical specifications, product images, customer-specific prices, downloads of key documents and information about rights of return and availability is at your fingertips. In addition, an automatic machine comparison is performed before your order is completed. This enables you to see which of your machines your selected parts are compatible with.
