

— RAMONA HÖNL

EuroBLECH: TRUMPF gives first insights at advance press conference

In just a few weeks, EuroBLECH will open its doors in Hanover, Germany. The high-tech company TRUMPF will present various innovations for the industry at the leading trade show for sheet metal production. One of them was already presented at the advance press conference on September 21. The Pay-per-Part digital business model. But what is it all about? And which companies can use the model? Stephan Mayer, CEO Machine Tools, and Benedikt Braig, program manager of Pay-per-Part at TRUMPF, were on hand to answer questions from press representatives from around the world.

Click here to read the press release of pay-per-part

RAMONA HÖNL

A SZERSZÁMGÉPEK SZÓVIVŐJE

